Secretary Says the Country Needs Change in Currency System.

CHANGE IS NEEDED

Former Comptroller Eckles Makes Final Address at Milwaukee Today.

CLOSING SESSION ON

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 17.—The closing session of the bankers' convention is in progress this afternoon. This morning President Trowbridge called the convention to order for the last time. The new officers were installed, with Myron T. Herrick as president, Caldwell Hardy as vice president, James R. L. Branch as secretary and George M. Reynolds as treasurer. The sentiment is the executive council is very strong in favor of making F. G. Biglow of Milwaukee its chairman.

Former Comptroller James H. Eckles was the big speaker on the program. He discussed "Assets and Curafternoon, after the subject was discussed informally. P. J. Kaufmann, cashier of the Fidelity Trust company, Tacoma, Washington, opened a discussion on "The Financial and Commercial Future of the Pacific Coast," and Walter D. Coles, referee in bankruptcy at St. Louis, took up the bankruptcy law. A committee appointed yesterday reported a set of resolutions which embodied a testimonial to President McKinley, which was unanimously adopted.

SEC. GAGE IS FOR REFORM

Wants All of the Nation's Funds Put into the Banks

Milwaukee, Oct. 17.—Lyman J. Gage, secretary of the treasury, yesterday afternoon put the stamp of his approval upon a radical plan for reform or transformation of the system of banking in the United States. He did this by openly and heartily commending statements made in the convention of the American Bankers' association which proposed the establishment of a system similar to that in operation in England.

This system provides for one great central bank, the bank of the government, with sub-systems in the great commercial centers and branches scattered all over the country.

Coincident with the adoption of this system he commended the proposition for the abolishment of the sub-treasury and the repeal of existing laws so as to conform with the new plan suggested.

Enormous Economic Waste.

Under the present treasury system Mr. Gage argued there had been an enormous economic waste. The holding of great sums in the treasury deprived the commercial world of the use of enormous working capital; it was even a gigantic loss to the nation itself, for with the money loaned through banks or otherwise to the people the government would not only retain its surplus but would have the advantage of the vast amount of interest that would accrue from the use of it in commercial or industrial pursuits.

Gives His Plans for Reform.

The secretary said the reform should be brought about by reasonable and judicious measures; there should be no attempt to "revolutionize." His own convictions of the proper method of procedure he had summed up in six propositions relative to the course of the government. These are as follows:

"1. I believe it to be most desirable that the demand liabilities of the government known as legal tender notes should be put in the way of retirement and cancellation.

"2. I believe that this can be accomplished without any burden of interest cost to the public treasury.

"3. I believe that our system of bank note circulation can be and ought to be so modified as to make it more responsive to commercial and industrial requirements without any increase of risk to the bill holder.

"4. I believe that beyond acting as a guardian and trustee for the people in relation to national banks the government guaranty to bank note issues should cease.

"5. I believe that the public moneys in excess of a reasonable working balance for daily use should be deposited in national banks. That a simple and safe system of distribution of funds can be devised I have no doubt.

"6. I believe that in periods of national peace and prosperity the public revenue should be somewhat in excess of public expenditure and that the surplus revenue should be applied to the reduction of the national debt."

GOVERNOR WILL RIDE DAILY

Has Horse Taken to Fox Farm Upon Which He Will Exercise

Madison, Wis., Oct. 7.—Governor La Follette's groom today took two saddle horses out to the Fox farm for the use of the executive and his physician. It is said to be doubtful whether the governor is strong enough to stand much exercise but he insists on trying it. He has told his physician that, as soon as he recovered sufficiently he was going to buy a saddle horse and ride daily.

CHINESE BELLES WILL COME OVER

Washington, October 17.—Yung Kwal, one of the attaches of the Chinese legation, has notified Commissioner of Immigration Powderly that Mme. Wu, wife of the Chinese minister, sailed from Hong-Kong, Oct. 6, and that she would bring with her three young Chinese women. They will be in the suite of Mme. Wu and will take part in the social life of Washington. They are of equal rank with Mme. Wu in China.

The object of the notification is that they may not be subjected to any annoyance upon landing. It is requested that H. Hart North, the local commissioner of immigration be informed of their arrival. The officials of the treasury department will make every provision to see that these guests of the Chinese legation are not inconvenienced in any way.

HIGH SCHOOLS ARE INCREASING FAST

Report of U. S. Commissioner of Education—Study of "Languages Takes Lead Over Sciences."

Washington, D. C., Oct. 7.—The annual report of the commissioner of education, W. T. Harris, for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1900, was today received by the secretary of the interior. Among other details of the progress of educational development of the United States during the last year are the announcements that the grand total of school attendance was 17,020,710, an increase over the preceding year of 282,348 pupils.

The report says that 2 per cent of the population of the United States attends private schools, and that 21 per cent attends some private school, supported by the taxes of the state, or a municipality.

A point of special interest is the increase in the public high schools, these having grown in number from 2,526 in 1890 to 6,005 in 1900.

In the public schools ten years ago there were 70,411 students in Latin. The number had increased to 262,767 in the last year. The number of pupils in Greek increased during the same period from 6,202 to 14,813 a large absolute increase, but really a slight decrease in the ratio of all secondary students. Students in French and German show an increase of 30 per cent. The study of algebra, geometry and general history has increased, but that of chemistry and physics has greatly decreased.

Green Bay, Wis., Oct. 17.—S. H. Cady of this city has received notice from the United States District attorney that he case against Walter Pollesek for tampering with a United States mail box on one of the rural routes near the city has been notified and the prosecution dropped. BOTH PRISONERS DESERVE LYNCHING

London, October 17.—At this morning's session in the trial of Theodore Jackson and Dis De Bar, a pretty sixteen year old girl, with curls hanging over her shoulders, testified that the prisoners had persuaded her parents to let them bring her to London. Madame was to teach her painting, Theodore religion. She believed Theodore was a son of God. Her seduction followed in a similar manner to that of other victims of the prisoners. Angry murmurs by the crowd in the court room interrupted her testimony. Extra precautions were taken to prevent the spectators from mobbing the prisoners.

ROOSEVELT MAY ACT AS MEDIATOR; SCHEME ON HAND TO END BOER WAR

The President Is Said To Be Considering Such Action—Home-Coming of Ambassador Choate with a Secret Message, Gives Color to Rumor.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 17.—There is a well-grounded belief today that President Roosevelt is considering the advisability of diplomatically assisting in bringing to a close the Boer war.

Those in a position to speak will not deny that recent conferences between the president and Senators Lodge, Frye and Cullom, of the foreign relations committee is more significant than a mere discussion of routine questions to be treated in the message to congress.

Information comes from a source so high that it cannot be questioned, that it is the president's earnest desire to befriend the race from which his ancestors sprang, that is the impelling motive for the proposed visit of Ambassador Choate.

Secretary of State Hay arrived at his desk today after a long absence and this gives a strong coloring to the statement. Secretary Hay is an ardent British sympathizer. It was this friendship that laid him open to criticism by the senate when it discussed and finally defeated the acceptance of the Hay-Pauncefote canal treaty.

Should the United States government take the initiative in the movement that has long been forming to end the Boer war, it is believed that Secretary Hay would immediately tender his portfolio to the president.

Though the president has been counseled against taking any step that would lead to the tender of the good offices of the United States to England in the settlement of the present war, it is said he has been given assurances of having the hearty support of congress.

Cable dispatches from London recently, announcing Ambassador Choate's rather sudden determination to sail for America asserted that he was bearing a message from King Edward to President Roosevelt "that was of too delicate a nature to be trusted to the cable."

WATTERSON'S PLANS FOR A NEW PARTY

Kentucky Editor Will Try to Unite the Factions in the Democratic Ranks.

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 17.—Henry Watterson's purpose to enter the arena as an aspirant for gubernatorial honors is the political sensation in Kentucky. His purpose, as declared by his intimate friends is to stamp Bryanism out of the democratic party in his own state, and, if he succeeds here, in the nation afterward.

Mr. Watterson is not only in favor of the gold standard, but he is an ardent expansionist. He is in favor of the construction of an isthmian canal. He is for the expansion of the army and the navy in keeping with the expansion of the nation, and he favors other movements which find favor with the republicans, and for that reason alone are opposed by a large number of Mr. Bryan's followers.

But Mr. Watterson is not a republican. Not only on the question of the tariff but upon many other important issues too well known to be enumerated does he oppose the republican party. He believes, and says so editorially from time to time, that the republican party is not the party of the people. And believing as he does, Mr. Watterson's task is to build up a new democracy upon the wreck of Bryanism.

It is a three years' task he has set out for himself. It means the abandonment of a policy declared twenty-five years ago, when he avowed he would never accept the responsibilities of any office within the gift of the people. Now he may be a presidential candidate.

Used Tobacco and Drank Liquor for 100 Years of Her Life

St. Joseph, Mo., Oct. 17.—Ann Taylor, who used tobacco and liquor for 100 out of a total of 110 years of her life, died in this city today. She had lived here for years and thousands can testify that they scarcely ever saw her without a pipe in her mouth. As she grew wrinkled and her form began to bend two score years ago she was asked whether she didn't believe abstinence from tobacco and liquor would prolong her life. "Mebbe it would," she replied, "but I'm not afraid of it hurting my health any." She retained her mental powers almost to the last and was able, despite her great age, to walk about up to a short time before her fatal sickness.

San Francisco, Oct. 17.—It is reported that President Wheeler of the University of California will be appointed ambassador to Germany.

Hetested that Schley's bearing was cool and perfectly natural during the battle.

Ensign Everly, who had served on the Brooklyn, testified that during the battle the Viscaya made a turn as though to ram the Brooklyn.

NAVY ESTIMATES ARE MUCH LARGER

Secretary Long Urges Important Work on Yards and Stations for Nation's Warships.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 17.—The estimates of the navy for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1903, were made public at the navy department today. The total amount is $98,910,984, against $77,245,535 appropriated for the current year.

The chief increases are $2,500,000 for construction, $2,000,000 for armor and $129,355 for yards and docks.

Secretary Long, speaking of the estimates, said they did not cover any recommendations for increase of the navy over that already authorized, but the secretary may recommend three new battleships, two armored cruisers, and a number of small gunboats.

FREE BOOKS FOR RURAL PEOPLE

Plans Developed at the Women's Club Meeting at Madison.

DOMESTIC SCIENCE

Mrs. Gov. La Follette Gave a Reception to Visiting Delegates This Morning.

FEDERATION'S PLANS

Madison, Wis., Oct. 17.—(Special.)—This morning was spent by delegates to the Federation of Women's Clubs in a visit to the State University and Historical Library after which they were given a reception at the executive mansion by Mrs. La Follette, president of the Emily Bishop League.

This afternoon the session was devoted to domestic economy, the direct question being the endowment of a chair in this science at Downer college, Milwaukee. Addresses were given by Mrs. Nellie Kedzie Jones of Boro, Ky., and Mrs. J. A. Kimberly of Oshkosh, who with Mrs. Roger P. Sawyer of Oshkosh is heading the movement. There is considerable opposition to the plan but its members are still hopeful.

This evening there will be a musical and literary program in the Assembly Chamber.

Free Rural Libraries

Madison, Wis., Oct. 17.—The Wisconsin Federation of Women's clubs will go before the next legislature to ask for the establishment and maintenance of free central libraries in the rural districts by public taxation. F. A. Hutchins, secretary of the free library commission, read a paper on "What Clubs Can Do for Our Traveling Libraries," in which he suggested that as the present tendency in the state's rural school system was toward centralization and consolidation, and with highly satisfactory results, some steps be taken to encourage the establishment by the state of central libraries in the rural districts.

He discussed this proposition at length to show the necessity and advisability of such a step, and then closed by suggesting that the Federation might assist materially in bringing such a thing about by appointing a committee to co-operate with the commission in preparing a report on this subject to be presented to the next legislature. The Federation took kindly to his suggestion and unanimously agreed on the naming of a committee.

Two subjects were much discussed in the halls and rotundas before the business of the session began. One was the color question, the other was the plan for the endowment of a chair of domestic science at Milwaukee-Downer college. It is generally agreed that there will not be so much as a lip concerning the color question.

The chances of the endowment of the endowment and the color scheme are said to be better than they were a week ago. In her annual address the president called attention to the importance of the domestic economy question, putting so much stress on it that the hopes of those who wish to carry the plan through rose to the point of confidence.

Those in attendance from Rock county are: Beloit-City Federation, Mrs. E. T. Hansen, Mrs. W. M. Britten, Mrs. F. E. Converse, Cote, Mrs. Harry L. Hulbert, Evansville—Woman's Library, Mrs. V. BANKERS IN THE HOTEL LOBBIES.

There is a lighter side to the bankers' convention which is observable when a party of the bankers get together in the hotel lobbies in the evenings. In the lobby of the Hotel Pfister a safe company has on exhibition a pattern of a burglar proof safe that is warranted absolutely burglar proof. In this the bankers are very much interested, especially as there are more than one of them that have had actual and bitter experience with the ways of the robber man.

"This safe can be drilled at, hammered at, sawed at and worked upon with electricity and dynamite," said the man in charge of the safe to a party of bankers last night, "but it cannot be gotten into by burglarious methods. The safe is made of the new patent manganese steel which flows under the impact of explosives, which cannot be cracked. It is too tough, and at the same time, is so hard it can neither be sawed nor drilled into."

"What's that?" said one of the Milwaukeeans, "the steel is so hard it cannot be cracked, nor sawed, and yet soft enough to yield before explosives?"

"Precisely," answered the safe man. The Milwaukee banker looked at the safe dubiously, and examined a little spindle which protrudes from the door, and on which a long handled crank works to unlock the combination.

"For instance," said the Milwaukee banker, pointing to the spindle, which is of the thickness of a man's little finger and protrudes from the door about an inch and a half, "suppose that little spindle were broken off with a sledge hammer, or sawed off with a steel saw, the safe would have to be returned to the works to be opened, would it not?"

"It would," admitted the safe man, "but that little piece of steel no bigger than your finger can neither be broken nor sawed. It is too tough to be broken, for it can be hammered to right or left, up or down, or flattened out beneath the blows of a sledge. It will give under pressure, but it will not crack. Neither can it be sawed. There is no steel saw made that will saw through it."

"I can't see it," replied the banker. "Well," said the safe man, "there is a man in this city who has tried to saw through this steel and he says that there is no saw made that will do it—burglariously."

"I am a Milwaukeean," said the banker, "who is the gentleman to whom you refer?"

"Edwin Reynolds, of the Allis-Chalmers works," responded the safe man, pleasantly. "Mr. Reynolds has tested this steel and found that the teeth of the best saws wear away on it without making an impression."

"Well," said the Milwaukeean, as his countenance cleared up, "if Reynolds says so, it must be so. But, by George, if that little spindle would flatten out, how in the world could the safe be opened?"

"It would have to be sent back to the factory and put under a 1,500-ton steel pressure machine," was the answer.

"The machine would press a hole clear through the safe, and the contents could be extracted."

"That would ruin the safe," remarked the banker.

"But if the safe had previously kept out the burglar, wouldn't you consider it well worth the cost?"

The banker acknowledged that this was so, and remarked that when occasion presented he would have to look up the safe company.

Forges Checks While You Wait. In another part of the hotel lobby sits R. L. Lively, who forges checks for the bankers while they wait. He has a machine that is guaranteed to prevent the raising of checks and drafts.

To show the bankers how easy it is for an accomplished villain to buy a check for 30 cents, or dollars, and raise it to several thousand, Mr. Lively has the bankers make out a check for $15 or so, and have it perforated with the perforating machines of which there are several in the lobby.

Mr. Lively then takes the checks, removes the ink, and raises the written amount several thousand dollars. Sometimes, just to show what he can do, he makes it several hundred thousand, whereas the bankers declare they would not pay a check of such an amount without first investigating.

Thereupon Mr. Lively explains about a bank in Los Angeles, Cal., from which the famous forger and check raiser, A. H. Dean, recently convicted, bought a $12 check on a San Francisco bank. As the check was marked with the machine Mr. Lively tells, could not be raised, and was finally cashed for its original amount, and is now on exhibition in the office of the bank Mr. Dean intended defrauding.

Foiled in this instance, Dean went to a San Diego bank and bought another draft for $12. The check was an ordinary one and was successfully raised and cashed for $30,000 at the San Francisco bank, Dean getting away with the cash.

"You see," said Mr. Lively to a group of bankers last night, "any bank would readily cash a check for an ordinary amount like $25,000 or $50,000."

Then he proceeded to show how the $25,000 could be made in about five minutes. With a delicate punch he punched out $300,000 in a check, taking the little round pieces of the check paper and inserting them in the holes made by the original punch marks that indicated that the amount of the check was $12. The little pieces were laid in by Mr. Lively with a knife blade, and fitted exactly, the punch making an aperture in the check the same size as those made by the original punch. As the punched pieces stick too tightly to be taken out by ordinary handling any check raised in this manner would not be detected in the average course of business.

The operation is so simple that those bankers who have not yet come in contact with a check raiser become much interested. Mr. Lively is a business man of unblemished reputation, and he explains with considerable enjoyment that his experience in check raising was not gained in a professional way.—Free Press.

FACTORY FIRE IS QUICKLY PUT OUT

The new sawdust consuming system that is being put in by Thoroughgood & Co., came near causing them to lose their plant by fire last night about 10:30 o'clock. The large feed pipe connecting the saw dust bin with the fire boxes under the boilers is fitted with an automatic shut off and a fire fuse, so that in case shavings suck back from the fire box into the feed pipe and set the shavings in the pipe on fire, they cannot get into the shavings or sawdust bins.

This automatic device was not yet in place and some of the shavings caught fire and sucked back into the bins, starting a slow fire that finally developed into a big one.

William Kimball, the engineer of the plant, made the round with watchman at 9:30 o'clock and at that time there was no smell of fire and everything was apparently all right.

About 10:30 the watchman discovered the blaze and turned in an alarm. The department was on hand in short order but everything seemed to be out of whack, and it was at least ten minutes after the alarm sounded before an effective stream was turned on the blaze. Before that time Engineer Kimball had come down from his home in the Third ward and turned on the water from the fire hose in the boiler room and put out the most of the blaze inside the room with that. The fire department finally got straightened around and drowned the blaze in quick time. The roof to the boiler room was burned considerably and one of the sawdust bins somewhat damaged. The loss will not amount to over $150 and is fully covered by insurance.

AN INTERNAL REMEDY.

A Pleasant Tasting Tablet; Simple, Convenient; Cures Every Form of Catarrh.

The use of inhalers, douches, sprays, salves and powders for catarrh is a nuisance and inconvenience at the best, and cannot compare with antiseptic remedies in tablet form.

Internal remedies are the only ones which can really reach the seat of the disease which is in the blood and local applications can no more cure catarrh than rheumatism or kidney trouble, the excessive secretion in nose and throat being local manifestations of a deep seated poison in the blood.

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, the most successful of the various internal remedies, is composed principally of highly concentrated antiseptics, which destroy the catarrh germs in the blood and causes them to be eliminated through the natural channels.

Progressive physicians use and advise Stuart's Catarrh Tablets because they contain no cocaine, no opiate, no enervating drug whatever, but are composed of Guaiacol, Hydrastin, Red Gum and similar catarrh antiseptics, and are so safe and pleasant that even little children may use them with excellent results.

Catarrh sufferers who have wasted time and money on local applications should not despair of a radical cure until a trial of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets has been made.

A complete treatment may be purchased at any drug store for fifty cents.

LITERARY NOTES.

The recent cable dispatch which reports trouble in the sultan's kitchen and the arrest of several of his cooks will probably find an adequate explanation in the accounts of the sultan's vagaries and the chapters on his kitchen and peculiar habits of eating, which will be presented in "The Private Life of the Sultan," to be published immediately by D. Appleton and Company.

The author of "David Harum" wrote also one other story, and this is soon to be published by D. Appleton and Company. The title is "The Teller." It is said that this story will be accompanied by a collection of Mr. Westcott's letters, which describe the manner in which "David Harum" was written and the adventures of the manuscript.

The Liverpool Daily Post says that the life and death of little Joseph in Hall Caine's "Eternal City" will take a permanent place in literature, side by side with Eva in "Uncle Tom's Cabin" and Paul in "Dombey and Son."

D. Appleton & Company's October announcements include "The Quilberson Touch," by Cyrus Townsend Brady; "The Allen," by F. F. Montreuil; "The Apostles of the Southeast," by Frank T. Bullen; "Some Women I Have Known," by Maarten Maartens; "Shipmates," by Morgan Robertson; "While Charlie Was Away," by Mrs. Poulney Bigelow; "The Wage of Character," by Julien Gordon; "Other Worlds," by Garrett P. Serviss; "Dragons of the Air," by H. G. Seeley; "The Most Famous Lobs," by N. K. Blaser.

AMUSEMENT NOTES.

It is a somewhat notable fact that though the dramatization of a novel may achieve a temporary success of curiosity, the original plays continue to stand for excellence in story, character and effect. Mr. Tim Murphy's representative may therefore be paraded in his insistence that "A Capitol Comedy" is positively an original play and not a dramatization.

The wag who paraphrased a famous saw and said "If I may make the dramatizations of the stage I care not who makes its dramas" delivered to a jaded jest founded on a feeling fact. Truly there is a distinction between dramas and dramatizations, but the dramas have the worth. In this new play Mr. Murphy has a tremendous natural hit. It is the happy work of Paul Wilstach and is a story of Washington life. Both actor and author have learned their Washington thoroughly by long residence in the shadow of the dome. It is therefore fair to credit the widespread praise given the realism and truthfulness of the scenes the typical incidents and the characters.

An evening with "A Capitol Comedy" is the best possible substitute for a trip to Washington. It shows capital life in its most exciting and amusing aspects. Mr. Murphy's hit as Joel Gay has duplicated the perennial success of Herne, Russell and Robson in such unimitable roles as Nathaniel Berry, Noah Vale, and Bertie the Lamb. It is an American character full of the milk of human kindness, the kernel and shell of naturalness and truth, and withal, amusing in its sprightly humor. The play has made its author famous and Mr. Murphy's creation has increased the comedian's fame and made it fast in a niche with the most celebrated of our native stage today. The entire original company and production will be seen when Mr. Murphy appears in "A Capitol Comedy" at the Myers Grand.

The announcement of the coming tour of the popular star, Howard Gould, in the New York Empire theater success, "Brother Officers," is one of the interesting events of recent dramatic news. Mr. Gould has long been a favorite in this vicinity, where he has appeared almost successfully for the past six seasons, under the management of Daniel Frohman, in such excellent plays as "The Prisoner of Zenda," "Colonial Girl," "Rupert of Hentzau," and others. Manager W. M. Wilkinson has recently made a long contract with Mr. Gould, and will first present him in "Brother Officers," which was one of the distinctive successes of the New York Empire Theater's stock company last season, where it was presented for two extended runs. The production of the play in which Mr. Gould will be seen, will be the original one used during the Empire Theater engagements.

The recent success achieved by Mr. Otis Skinner in his revival of "Francisca Da Rimini" is by far the most ambitious of this well-known actor's career. Notwithstanding the high class entertainment heretofore presented by Mr. Skinner, it is safe to state that nothing he has been seen in before surpasses it in the magnificence of its presentation. Mr. Skinner has surrounded himself with a company of artists whose reputations have already been established, and include among its number such well known artists as Aubrey Boucalt, Marcia Van Dresser, William Norris, Gertrude Norman, E. A. Eberle, W. J. Constantine, and others of equal prominence. Mr. Skinner and his supporting company will be seen in its entirety at the Myers Grand, Monday, Oct. 21.

REFORM ON RAILWAY MILEAGE TICKETS

Interchangeable Passes Will Be Sold to Drummers on Most All Wisconsin Lines.

Hereafter traveling men in Wisconsin will be able to purchase 2,000 mile tickets over one road which will be accepted over every road in the state except the Duluth, South Shore and Atlantic and the Minneapolis and St. Paul lines. This boon of interchangeable tickets, which will be of great benefit to the traveling men of the state, was granted through the efforts of the Traveler's Protective association and the co-operation of the Wisconsin Central railroad.

It is believed the concession on the part of the Wisconsin Central road has been the result of ceaseless effort by the Traveler's Protective association. All of the roads of the Western Passenger association have been asked to issue 2,000 or 3,000 mile books good on all their lines, but have not met with success. Beginning today, however, the Wisconsin Central railroad will sell the new 2,000-mile tickets and will accept Chicago and North-Western and the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul 2,000-mile tickets over its line.

CAUSES OF STOMACH TROUBLES.

Four Professors Claim That Quick Lunches Bring on Diseases.

The "business lunch" threatens to accomplish the destruction of the human race—or so much of it as dwells in large American cities—if the statistics adduced by eminent physicians and surgeons, at a meeting of the Chicago Medical Society, are found to be the unflinching mirrors of destiny that the doctors promise.

In the alarming increase of intestinal or "gastric" ulcers such eminent medical practitioners as Drs. N. S. Davis, Jr., W. A. Evans, J. B. Herrick and E. W. Andrews announced in a symposium that they feared the American stomach would give out in the course of time unless the public becomes wise enough to curb and regulate the lunch counter method of hasty eating.

It would seem that danger from gastric ulceration is not confined alone to the men, who are the consumers of the business lunches, but that women are also threatened. To the women's habit of eating a few bites at many hours of the day their imminent peril is ascribed.

Everyone should counteract the danger brought about by too hasty or overeating by taking at meal times Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin and Herb Laxative Compound. This wonderful medicine will keep the stomach in a perfectly healthy condition, preventing and permanently curing indigestion, constipation, biliousness, sick headache, and all complications arising from stomach troubles. Try it today. Its pleasant taste and almost immediate effect will be a revelation to you. 50c and $1 bottles. Ask your druggist. If you do not find it at your druggist, write us and we will send a free sample and an interesting book on stomach troubles. Pepsin Syrup Co., Monticello, Ills.

A new remedy for biliousness is now on sale at the People's Drug store and King's pharmacy. It is called Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. It gives quick relief and will prevent the attack if given as soon as the first indications of the disease appear. Price, 25 cents per box. Samples free.

EASTERN STAR IN THE ASCENDANT

RECEPTION BY THE WOMAN'S BRANCH OF MASONS.

Janesville Chapter No. 69 O. E. S. Entertains the Delegates to the District Convention—Masonic Hall Was in Festal Array—Banquet and Speeches—Business of Order.

The star of the Masonic order was certainly in the ascendency last evening when Janesville Chapter, No. 69 Order of Eastern Star, entertained the district convention. Guests were present from Snaron, Clinton Junction, Beloit, Broadhead, Monroe, Albany, Evansville, Edgerton, Milton Junction and Fort Atkinson, whose chapters together with that of Janesville are members of the Fifth district and also from Stoughton and Delavan.

Masonic hall was in festal array in honor of the occasion and never was it more handsomely decorated. For two days the efficient decorating committee had been busy beautifying the hall and the result of their handiwork received much praise from those who were in attendance at the convention. The five colors, emblematic of the order, blue, yellow, white, green and red, were everywhere in evidence, the colors offering exceptional advantages for effective decorations.

The lodge hall was especially beautiful. At either end of the hall were masses of potted palms and ferns and draperies of trailing vines were looped from the canopies above. A profusion of vines was also arranged around the chandeliers, completely concealing them, and green foliage was used effectively on the walls. Each star point, around which the work of the order centers, was designated in a unique and very beautiful manner by a decorative pedestal wound with smilax and bearing a bowl of blossoms of the color of that particular point. The green star point was marked by a dainty asparagus fern.

In the dining hall, autumn foliage with its rich reds and yellows, was used in abundance on the walls, over pictures and massed on the central chandelier. The long tables were also handsomely decorated, great bouquets of asters, nasturtiums and brilliant geraniums being used at short intervals along the center of the tables. A bunch of bright red bitter-sweet berries lay at each plate and additional dashes of color were given by the fancy paper receptacles in the five colors of the order which held the potato chips.

Two hundred guests had been expected but so famed is the hospitality of the Janesville chapter that a much larger number was present and the tables were not only filled the first time but over half filled again. The elegant supper was served by a committee of members of the local chapters, the gentlemen waiting on the tables and the ladies superintending in the kitchen. The supper included the following list of good things, all of which were delicious in quality:

Menu: Escalloped Oysters Potato Chips Pressed Veal Bread and Butter Ham Pickles Olives Coffee Fruit Salad Waters

Ice Cream Assorted Cakes After the supper the convention assembled in the lodge hall and devoted the balance of the evening to the work of the order. Mrs. J. M. Shortney and Miss Carl were received in to the Janesville chapter and the beautiful ritualistic work was exemplified by the local chapter. Mrs. H. L. McNamara, the worthy matron, presiding. The floor work was faultlessly executed by the Broadhead chapter, the members of the convention taking especial delight in the exquisite singing of Mrs. Niles and Mrs. Clark, who each sang solos and then blended their beautiful voices in a duet.

During the evening there were brief addresses by Mrs. Belle W. Bliss of Baraboo, worthy grand matron; W. F. Carle of this city, worthy grand help. It's almost sure to heal. It has cured ninety-eight per cent. of those who gave it a fair and faithful trial.

Mrs. H. A. Albrook, of Austin, Loneoke Co., Ark., writes: "After five months of great suffering from female weakness I write this for the benefit of other sufferers from the same affliction. I doctored with our family physician without any good results, so my husband urged me to try Dr. Pierce's medicine—which I did, with wonderful results. I am completely cured. I took four bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, four of his 'Golden Medical Discovery' and two vials of his 'Pleasant Pellets'."

patron; Mrs. Button of Milton, one of the state officers and Mr. Shannon worthy patron of the Edgerton chapter. Col. E. O. Kimberly also favored the convention with a choice vocal selection.

Mrs. Bliss, who is very popular with the members of the order through out the state, was presented with a magnificent bouquet of American beauty roses, with which she was delighted. Her only regret was that the donor chose to remain unknown, thus preventing her from expressing her thanks personally for the remembrance and pretty courtesy.

After the session was over the visiting delegates were entertained at the homes of members of the local chapter. The convention was a great success and much credit is due the members of the local chapters, especially the committees, which took charge of all the arrangements. These committees were:

Reception Committee—Mesdames W. F. Carle, Charles Spencer, Charles Evans, O. H. Butts, Harriet Martin, Angie M. Sanborn and Janet Holmes. Supper Committee—Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Merritt, Mesdames Charles A. Sanborn, E. T. Fish, John W. Peters, R. L. Yeomans, F. A. Bennett and James A. Fathers.

SUGAR WILL BE MADE FRIDAY

Menomonee Falls Plant Will Commence Working Up Stock of Beets

The Menomonee Falls, Wis., beet-sugar plant will open Friday, Oct. 18, and it is expected the plant will be run at its full capacity during the winter months, and 500 tons of beets producing 300 barrels of sugar will be used daily. About 4,800 acres in the southern part of the state have been devoted to beet culture this year. Over 300 men will be employed when the work of grinding begins. Shipments of beets to the factory have already begun. The growth of the vegetable in the southern counties has been very good, averaging 15 tons to the acre, which is a fair yield, considering the heavy drought during the summer months.

When to Cut the Hair. "The hair should never be cut at all. It makes it bleed and injures and burdens it. It should be singed always."

"At every new moon?" "The moon may control the tide, but not the hair. No; every three months is often enough."

"The hair should be light and free on the head. It should have air and not be plastered down flat. To 'shuffle' it is good for it, for the hair can rest in that way. The hair should always be brushed a little before it is combed out, for combing hair breaks and bruises the roots more than does anything else."

"And at night?" "Ah, at night," says madam—"at night the hair should be put in very loose braids or even allowed to hang over the pillow. But never should it be left dressed and in coils to the head. Then it will have no air, no freedom, and it will be like a plant kept always in the dark."

"Can any woman have lovely hair?"

"Yes, any woman can have beautiful hair. But glorious hair is a gift from God, just like any other point of marvelous beauty."

"Schwartz's Battery is Took."

During the battle of Shiloh an officer hurriedly rode up to an aide and inquired for Grant. "That's the man with the field glass," said the aide.

Wheeling his horse around the stranger rode furiously at the general, and touching his cap addressed him thus:

"Shenalar, I want to make one report; Schwartz's battery is took."

"Ah," said the general, "how was that?"

"Well, you see, shenalar, der sho-cassionists flanked us and der she-cassions came in der rear of us, und den Schwartz's pattery was took."

"Well, sir, you of course spiked the guns."

"Vot?" exclaimed the German in astonishment. "Schpikie dem guns! Schpikie dem new guns? V'y it would spoil dem!"

"Well," said the general sharply, "what did you do?"

"Do? Py tam, ye took dem back again!"—Cleveland Leader.

Rhode Island Republican Ticket.

Providence, R. I., Oct. 17.—The Rhode Island Republican convention made the following nominations: Governor, William Gregory of Wickford; lieutenant governor, Charles Dean Kimball of Providence; secretary of state, Charles P. Linnett of Providence; general treasurer, Walter A. Read of Gloucester; attorney general, Charles F. Stearns of Pawtucket. The platform, among other things, calls upon Congress to readjust representation in the electoral college upon the basis of actual voting population, declares anarchy should be dealt with by both state and federal legislation, condemns lynching "as a foul blot on our civilization," and advocates an isthmian canal and legislation to build up the merchant marine.

Every woman in the country ought to know about

Mother's Friend

Those who do know about it wonder how they ever got along without it. It has robbed childbirth of its terrors for many a young wife. It has preserved her girlish figure and saved her much suffering. It is an external liniment and carries with it therefore, absolutely no danger of upsetting the system as drugs taken internally are apt to do. It is to be rubbed into the abdomen to soften and strengthen the muscles which are to bear the strain. This means much less pain. It also prevents morning sickness and all of the other discomforts of pregnancy.

A druggist of Macon, Ga., says: "I have sold a large quantity of Mother's Friend and have never known an instance where it has failed to produce the good results claimed for it."

A prominent lady of Lamberton, Ark., writes: "With my first six children I was in labor from 24 to 30 hours. After using Mother's Friend, my seventh was born in 4 hours."

FAKE ADVERTISING.

The Retail Merchants' Protective association of Dunkirk, New York, representing a large majority of the business men of the city, recently devoted an evening to the discussion of fake advertising. Like the merchants of every other town, they were constantly besieged to try all sorts of schemes to advance their interests. After a free discussion of outlay and prospective returns that never realized, they voted unanimously to abandon all fakes and if they advertised at all, to spend their money in the best paying channel—the local newspaper.

The Dunkirk merchants are on the right track, and their example is being followed by successful business men in all parts of the country. Fortunes are squandered every year by retail merchants, on all sorts of fakes, and frequently the advertisement remains as a reminder of a foolish investment, after the business represented has been obliged to retire for lack of capital to continue. Drive through the country and note the fence board announcements, and you will invariably find that a large majority of the advertisements represent men who have retired from business early in their career, or if still in business, they are trailing along at the tail end of the procession.

These results are not the fault of the fence board, for that is but one of the many fakes that the man has used in a vain effort to reach the people. The signs, grotesque figures, society programs, hotel registers, gift enterprises and a multitude of other schemes are a constant drain on the retailer, and the most of them are worse than useless as an advertising medium. The city trade never pays any attention to this class of advertising, and the farmer, but more especially his wife, usually knows about what is wanted when the market is visited. And if the local paper, which is as sacred to them as the bible, is filled with live information concerning stocks and bargains no trouble is experienced in finding a desirable counter.

Many merchants labor under the mistaken notion that advertising sells goods, and that if they announce through the papers or by any other method that John Smith sells dry goods at bargain prices that Smith's store will be stamped by a great crowd of bargain seekers, forgetting the fact that if John Smith is in the dry goods business, he is expected to sell goods, and if he succeeds it is because he convinces the public that he has the bargain store.

If John Smith will forget about the bargain announcement, and say to the people, that on a certain day he will sell any of a hundred useful articles at a price that is a genuine bargain, and back up this announcement with an attractive store, attentive and intelligent attendants, plenty of the goods advertised to meet the demand, and he will find no trouble in filling his store with buyers, and making customers if he treats them right. The advertisement don't sell the goods, it simply furnishes the information, and it all depends upon the kind of information furnished as to results.

The simple statement that John Smith is still in business at the same old stand, is furnished by the sign over the door. People are glad to know that John is still alive and hasn't failed, and that's about all the thought they give it. If he gets economical some day and takes down the sign, to protect it from the weather, people miss it and say "Poor John," while they look up another dealer less cautious and more progressive. This is just as true of the man who drops legitimate advertising as it is of the man who takes down his sign. He may not feel the effects quite so soon, but they are sure to follow.

Every man in business has an ambition to do business, and if at all progressive, he is never satisfied until his trade shows a steady and healthy increase. He wants to attract just as many buyers as it is possible for him to reach. If he can go out and visit his customers, as the wholesale merchant does, he has discovered a successful advertising medium, but this method is not possible to the retailer. The next best medium, and the only one that insures results, is the home paper, that is read more religiously than the bible.

Janesville merchants can reach 2,000 homes in this city every day, and 3,000 homes in the county twice a week for less money than many of them squander on fake advertising, and The Gazette will guarantee results, if the announcements say anything to the people that interests them. Judicious advertising always pays; injudicious advertising is money wasted.

A HINT TO CANDIDATES.

"If you propose standing for office next year in any capacity, you will be discreet to take your position squarely on the Madison State Journal platform: 'SPOONER AND LA FOLLETTE'." The most significant straw that has come our way of late is a sentence in a letter from a local political manager, requesting the exploiting of the claims of a candidate:

"Be kind enough not to state anything that might militate against his election in regard to his being a La-Follette man or a Spooner man."—Madison Journal.

The Journal possesses a great deal of wisdom, and with one hand on the senator and the other on the governor, nor attempts to be the oracle for both. It is perhaps unnecessary to remind The Journal that the people will look out for the senator's interests, regardless of who may be the candidate for governor.

The only issue in the next campaign, as far as the republican party is concerned, will be conservative republicanism, deprived of all frills, and theoretical reforms. The issue is broad enough to engage the attention of every thoughtful republican in the state. Senator Spooner is the exponent of this class of republicanism, and it is the only class that has ever endured the test of time and experience. If the people would be saved from democratic experiences, both state and national, it is time to forsake false gods, and theoretical practices, and descend to the level of every day common sense.

Political economy and civil government of text-book origin is as theoretical as a commercial education in a business college, but practical economy and civil government, as taught in the broader university of life, touches the masses at every point. The people are a little weary of reforms of foreign extraction based on theories that emanated from the fertile brain of some zealous theorist. The constituency of the state, of whatever political faith, is a conservative constituency, and sober thought will govern action when the time comes to assume responsibility.

Senator Spooner will be retained as the people's representative in the senate, if he is willing to continue the service. The future of Governor La Follette, so far as his public life is concerned, depends entirely upon himself, and his attitude towards the party that has honored him with office.

The Madison State Journal platform may be as full of holes as a skimmer. Time will tell.

ACADEMIC CRITICISM.

John H. Gray, Ph. D., professor of political science at Northwestern University, recently sent to the Boston Transcript a two column article, criticizing Governor Yates of Illinois. According to the wise professor, the governor's weakness is academic, and not political. He doesn't know enough about text books and civil government as "she is taught" to be the governor of the great state of Illinois. Just why Dr. Gray went to Boston to air his grievance is not quite clear to the average mind. The hub of the universe is expected to be in sympathy with this sort of nonsense, and he doubtless gained the ear of an attentive audience.

The good people of Illinois are not worrying very much about Governor Yates. He may not be able to swear in seven languages, or quote Shakespeare or Byron by the yard, but he wears a number seven hat, that covers an intelligent head, and carries around a heart that beats in sympathy with the masses.

It is well for the country that the people select and elect their public servants, and while a diploma from a college is a valuable requisition, yet it is never demanded. Governor Yates had a father who graduated from the people's college a good many years ago, and the memory of his official life is still green in the hearts of the people. Jerry Rusk might have been a little short on collegiate culture, but he was long on intelligent manhood, and practical common sense, and the people delighted to honor him.

Prof. Gray may be dyspeptic, or he may be inflated with theories about government. In either case, he is entitled to sympathy. The good state of Illinois will jog along under Governor Yates' administration, just the same as though the professor lived in Boston, where he could rub up against culture at short range.

The inhabitants of Elijah Dowle's Zion are without a graveyard. They had planned to live forever and had no use for a burial place, but death appears to have found them out, with a scourge of diphtheria, and the farmers in the vicinity are considerably stirred up.

Andrew Carnegie is very much incensed, because Tammany is flirting with his name in the interests of political capital. Bill boards at all the elevated stations announced that Carnegie gave $5,500,000 for public libraries, and adds that he knew his business. The old gentleman don't like that sort of notoriety, and says that he is not in sympathy with Tammany.

If Adam was an American, where was the Garden of Eden. Every state in the union will lay claim to the spot. Wisconsin has a number of localities that will enter for competition. The scientist who advanced the theory, evidently failed to figure on results.

J. Pierpont Morgan has commenced suit against an Omaha paper for slander. A reporter attempted to interview him the other day at the Union depot, without success, and his manufactured report was a little personal. Mr. Morgan should not permit little things to annoy him.

The latest is a teacher from Indiana, who is now on her way to Niagara with a barrel, in which she proposes to shoot the falls. The barrel may escape, but there won't be enough left of the damsel for a funeral.

PRESS COMMENT.

Stevens' Milwaukee Organ: What is the stal-warts' little game? Why are they so anxious to have Lieut. Gov. Stone in the chair for a few days? Do they want to remove somebody from office? Do they want to get somebody appointed? Are there some stal-warts in the state prison whom they want to get a chance to pardon? What is "eating" them, anyway?

The gifted pen and brain of the author of this choice sentiment, is worthy of recognition. The Chicago American and New York Journal usually have room for this class of talent; the young man is in the line of promotion, and is entitled to advance.

Ashland Press: It is thirteen months until Wisconsin holds her state election. It is fully nine months before the state conventions and eight and a half before the primaries and county conventions will be conducted. This is a long time, but present indications are that the last half of the year will be full of politics. Everywhere throughout Wisconsin candidates are beginning to line up and informal announcements are an every day occurrence. There is no question but the state will re-elect republican congressmen and state officers provided wisdom is displayed in the nominations.

Beloit Free Press: Governor La Follette has removed from the governor's mansion to the country residence of his physician, Dr. Fox, a few miles from Madison, where, armed with a hunter's license and a gun, he is protecting the doctor's domain from the ravages of the ferocious squirrels, doves and chipmunks and other wild animals with which Dane county is still infested. The governor probably is only keeping "his hand in" for the other and larger game he will be "going after" a few months hence.

Milwaukee Journal: "Henry Waterson has the right to be a candidate for president if the spirit moves him, but he ought to know he cannot be elected."

Who does The Journal want? Mr. Waterson represents the conservative element of his party. The Journal does not favor a Bryanite, and the only logical conclusion is, that the case is desperate, and Waterson might as well lead the party to defeat as any other man. A very sensible conclusion.

Green Bay Gazette: Indications point to a renewal of the army canteen fight when congress reconvenes in December. The anti's are as much opposed to the canteen as ever, while the army officers are decidedly in favor of the institution. It is to be hoped, however, that the fighting will not become general, all along the line until the Schley court of inquiry finishes its work.

Oshkosh Northwestern: After much figuring and careful computation of statistics the Indianapolis News has decided that the exact center of population in this country is just ten feet north of the barn of Henry Marr, in the southeast corner of Columbus township, Bartholomew county, Indiana. But when they went to place a stake to mark the spot the only living thing in sight was Henry's hens in the cabbage patch.

Fond du Lac Reporter: And now a coolness has sprung up between Col. Jerre Murphy and General Bryant which is said to have reached the freezing point over the appointment of Gustave Kustermann as a member of the state board of control. The coolness is but the beginning of another parting of the ways.

Madison Democrat: The Chicago Tribune has taken the trouble to ascertain the views of American editors in relation to ship subsidies. It was energy wasted. Editorial opinion was never more united in opposition to any project than it is today against this shameful job.

Marquette Eagle: Some sort of a civil service examination is suggested, for all men who take out hunting licenses. Many of the hunters now seem to know little of the way to handle a gun.

In the Circuit Court In the circuit court today Judge Dunwiddie sustained the demurrer to the plea in abatement in the case of Rosa Schwartz against Herman Frielaff. The action grew out of some of the transactions of the late Max Pfennig.

In the case of Clara Beggs vs. Peter S. Beggs he overruled the demurrer and ordered the defendant to pay $25 attorney fees within fifteen days.

Articles of organization of the Milwaukee Fire Protection association were filed today with Register of Deeds O. D. Rowe. There is no capital stock and the aim of the association is to support a volunteer fire department for the better protection of property. The apparatus of the department consists of a hand engine and hose cart and a hook and ladder.

Contractors Peters & Shearer have a large force of men at work on the new St. Paul freight house on North Main street, and have a considerable portion of the wall built. The company are putting in and grading their side track, and getting them ready for use when the depot is completed.

FRANK REYNOLDS LOST HIS BICYCLE

Frank Reynolds was anxiously searching the street this morning to see if he could get any trace of his bicycle which someone had taken. He was around making some collections and left his wheel, a "National," standing in front of McNamara's hardware store on West Milwaukee street. He was only away a few minutes and returned to find the machine gone. He thought some one had taken it to play a joke on him, but after making a thorough search of the surrounding places of business became convinced that someone had ridden the wheel off. He informed the police and a search was at once instituted by them, but up to noon no trace of it had been found. The wheel is a "National" painted light blue and has thirty inch wheels. It also had a cyclometer attached to the front fork. Any information as to the whereabouts of the wheel will be gladly received by Mr. Reynolds.

Death of Mrs. Martin Ryan

Another of the city's highly respected women and pioneer residents passed away into the better life last night at 11:35 o'clock when Mrs. Martin Ryan closed her eyes in the sleep that knows no waking on this earth. Her death occurred at her home, 306 Wall street, after a brief illness. Mrs. Ryan was sixty-four years of age and for over forty-five years her home had been in Rock county. A large circle of friends will mourn her death and will extend heartfelt sympathy to the afflicted ones of her own family. Those upon whom the blow of sorrow falls most heavily are the bereaved husband, three daughters, Mrs. Chas. S. Gorham, of Beloit; Mrs. John Smith of Baraboo, and Mrs. J. McKevett, of this city, and two sons, John Ryan, of South Dakota and Daniel Ryan of this city.

Very Fine Cactus Plant

James G. Wray has presented the High school with a very fine cactus plant, which has been placed in the reception room and attracts a great deal of attention because of its unique appearance. It is a veritable tree, standing nearly six feet high. The smooth stem extends straight upward without any foliage except at the very top. There the stem is crowned with several of the glossy, spine covered leaves peculiar to the cactus family.

GUY GRIFFEY HAS RETURNED HOME

Gave Himself Up at the Jail—His Trial Will Take Place Tuesday
Morning, Oct. 22.

Guy Griffey of the town of Fulton who disappeared some time ago and whom the officers have been on the watch for returned voluntarily this morning and went down to the jail and gave himself up. The sheriff took him to the municipal court where he waived examination and his case was set for trial Tuesday morning, Oct. 22nd.

Griffey is charged with signing his father's name, endorsing checks and notes. He got the money on some of the checks and notes in this city. He said he was guilty and was tired of wandering around, so he came back and gave himself up and was ready to take his medicine.

He can have his trial before October 22, if he so desires, and the case will probably be taken up before that time. There was about $250 of the forged paper in the banks of this city.

OTIS SKINNER WILL DRAW LARGE HOUSE

Present indications are that standing room will be sold. Seats are on sale at the People's Drug store.

Robert Mantell Oct. 24.

E. D. Shaw, advance manager for Robert Mantell, was in the city today making arrangements for that popular actor's appearance at the Myers Grand next Thursday evening, Oct. 24. Mr. Mantell has long been a favorite in this city where he has charmed large audiences with his romantic acting in "Monsieur" and "The Face in the Moonlight," etc. His visit this year will have a special interest because he has recently taken up Shakespearean roles and is making a great success in his new venture. He will appear here in "Othello," a play which has not been seen at the Myers Grand in many years.

W. W. PERRY WILL BE GRAND MASTER

Perry, of Milwaukee, will be the acting grand master of the Grand Lodge of Wisconsin Free and Accepted Masons on that occasion and will take charge of the services. Word has also been received that John T. King, of Madison, grand junior warden of the order, will be present and other grand lodge officers are expected.

The visiting Masons will be entertained during their stay by the members of the order in this city. Masonic hall will be their headquarters and Janesville chapter No. 69, Order of Eastern Star, will serve luncheon from 11:30 to 1 o'clock Saturday noon for the city's guests of honor.

Explanation by Mary Kimball.

I wish to say regarding the cape affair published this morning, that the cape was brought me, by Ray, who said a lady sent it to me for the needy. It was badly ripped, and I mended it, and with other clothing, made my way to the home of a young girl, whom I knew had no winter wrap, and gave it to her. I was perfectly innocent in regard to the cape having been stolen, and I am exceedingly grieved and surprised that after having resided in this city a greater portion of my life, and when for so long a time, having devoted my life, health and strength and all I have, to the interests of Janesville, anyone should try to ruin me as was done this morning.

The owner of the cape saw her cape on the person of the mother of the young lady, and claimed the cape. She, the owner of said cape, with her husband, called at my house, and informed me that the cape had been stolen from her. I called at the home where the cape was secured, and returned it to the owner. The owner seemed satisfied, and apologized for the manner in which she treated the poor woman who wore the cape. Now it is well known that clothing is often brought me to distribute to the needy, and sometimes when I am out, bundles are left at my door, and I know not where they come from.

I believe that those who have known me longest and best will not attach any blame to me regarding the cape, or in regard to the very great and terrible things which have occurred during the past few weeks. I propose to go right on with the work in which I am engaged, doing what I can for Janesville, which to me is the dearest spot in all the earth, and also for the good of humanity.

MARY KIMBALL,
City Missionary.

SMALLEST OR LARGEST

Several more large shipments of winter garments received today and yesterday. It pleases women who usually have trouble in getting fitted in a garment to find something in our great stock ready to slip right on. The smallest women can be suited here. It is seldom that we cannot fit extra large people. Of misses and children's cloaks we show so many pretty novelties, catchy styles that have a snap to them. We easily lead the winter garment procession.

BANK REFORM IS URGEDA. B. Stickney Says New System Is Necessary.*GAGE GIVES HIS APPROVAL.*Bankers' Convention in Milwaukee Stirred by the Presentation of Radical Ideas on Financial Laws—Stickney Says Panics Can Be Prevented.

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 17.—Radical revision of the banking system of the United States by the repeal of the Subtreasury laws, and the establishment of a central bank with tributary branches scattered throughout the country, was urged upon the American Bankers' association today by President A. B. Stickney of the Chicago Great Western Railway company of New York. His remarks and reform suggestions carried weight with the convention, and the tacit indorsement they received was intensified by Lyman J. Gage, Secretary of the United States Treasury, commended Mr. Stickney upon his position, and revolved his declaration that there is need for banking legislation in the United States. Assuming the position that panics can be prevented, Mr. Stickney made a plea that the people be aroused to an appreciation of the American banking system. "There are no classes of people so much interested in the introduction of a system which has capacity to continuously exercise the banking function as debtors and laborers," he said, "and I wish I had the ability to establish this fact in the minds of these people." Mr. Stickney reviewed the great panics this country has suffered, particularly the one of 1893, and said it was due entirely to a restriction of the banks' function of "swapping credits." He warned his hearers against satisfaction with these days of "universal trust and confidence," declaring that the country had not yet grown so rich that there would never be another period of distrust. "Some of the enormous quantity of bubble wealth which is now being created will sooner or later collapse," he said, "and such a collapse should affect nobody but the bubble, but without a system of banks which can sustain legitimate credits there will follow a panic which will again destroy the market of intrinsic values, ruin debtors, deprive laborers of employment, and create general distress."

Then came the declaration in which Mr. Stickney made recommendations for the reform of the banking system. "A banking system for a great country like the United States requires a central bank," he said, "with a head in the chief commercial city; with branches in each of the commercial centers, which shall constitute the head and backbone of the system. This central bank should be the bank of the banks, and the bank of the government. The Subtreasuries should be abolished. The central bank should hold the gold reserve of all of the banks of the nation. The reserves of the other banks should consist of credits on the ledger of the central bank."

Selection of Officers.
New officers for the trust section were selected, as follows: Chairman, John S. Williams, Richmond, Va.; vice chairman, John E. Borne, New York City; members of executive committee for three years, E. A. Potter, Chicago; Louis L. Stanton, New York, and F. J. Wade, St. Louis.

THREATEN JUDGE'S LIFE.Presiding Officer in Powers' Murder Trial Is in Danger.

Georgetown, Ky., Oct. 17.—The friends of Judge Cantrill are guarding him closely, as it is reported that threats have been made against his life. Mrs. Cantrill ordered a cot to be taken to the courthouse for the judge, as he is not in good health. As the man entered the courthouse he was compelled to elbow his way through a crowd of mountaineers.

"What's that cot for?" asked one of them.

"For Judge Cantrill," replied the man.

"Take it on. That man will need that cot before he gets through with this trial," said one of the men.

The man left the cot in the office of the master commissioner and hurried back to tell Mrs. Cantrill what he had heard. Mrs. Cantrill notified Commonwealth Attorney Franklin, and all possible arrangements were then made looking for the safety of Judge Cantrill.

EIGHT HURT IN ACCIDENT.

Tlona, Wis., Oct. 17.—Eight men were injured, three probably fatally in a peculiar accident on the St. Paul road here. The injured are: W. W. Bond, Chicago, road master, skull crushed, will die; John Conkley, Beloit, cut about head and body, badly bruised, will die; Larry Connors, Avalon, ribs crushed, serious cuts on head and injured internally, probably will die; Alva Roken, Tlona, cut about head and bruised; Richard Donohue, Darlen, cuts on head and body; Andy Higgins, Avalon, cuts on head and back; Will Finley, Antigo, head cut and leg injured; Mike Shea, Chicago, cut about head and back injured. A crew under Roadmaster Bond and Trainmaster H. E. Carroll of Chicago was unloading a dump car of gravel on a curve, when the car tipped over rolling down a thirty foot embankment. NO NEWS ABOUT MISS STONE.

Authorities in Washington Believe, Though, This Is Good News.

Washington, Oct. 17.—Washington is without official news of the situation of Miss Ellen M. Stone. Secretary Eddy of the legation at Constantinople and Consul General Dickinson at Sofia, are making determined efforts to locate her. Apparently they have not been successful, for they have not communicated with the State Department. The authorities, however, insist that no news is good news. When assured that pursuit by the government troops has been stopped, it is believed here that the brigands will renew negotiations with Mr. Eddy for Miss Stone's liberation.

Sofia, Bulgaria, Oct. 17.—During the night another letter from Miss Ellen M. Stone's companion, Mme. Tsilka, was found posted at her parents' door, announcing that Mme. Tsilka had given birth to a child and that both the infant and the mother were doing well.

MAN AND WIFE ASPHYXIATED.

Brother of Latter May Have Caused the Double Death.

New York, Oct. 17.—William Joyce, and his wife, who had been married seven months, were asphyxiated during the night at the home of Mrs. Joyce's parents in Brooklyn.

Joseph Duff, 79 years old, brother of Mrs. Joyce, believes he was the unintentional cause of the tragedy. Mr. and Mrs. Joyce, who lived in Manhattan, had spent the evening at the home of the Duffs, and were asked to remain over night. They were given the sleeping room usually occupied by Joseph Duff, who was away from home during the evening. When the young man went to his room and lit the gas Joyce spoke to him and explained the situation, whereupon Joseph turned out the gas and went to another apartment to sleep. He thinks that in his confusion at finding his room occupied he may have turned on the gas after the light had been extinguished. The grief of young Duff is overwhelming.

BEST MEN TO OFFICE.

Roosevelt's Policy as Regarded by Senator Morgan of Alabama.

Washington, Oct. 17.—Senator Morgan of Alabama, who was one of President Roosevelt's callers, talked with the President about the prospects of the Nicaragua canal bill at the coming session of congress.

The president told Senator Morgan that he would submit to the senate a new treaty on the subject which more nearly met his views than the first Hay-Pauncefote treaty, but he did not go into particulars.

Speaking of the president's policy in regard to southern appointments, Senator Morgan said: "It is the policy of reconciliation, the policy of appointing the best men to office."

"But solitaire," they protested, "is a game for a single person; it cannot be played by two people."

No Civic Pride.
"Now," said the tramp, "that ain't no kind of a town. There ain't a bit of civic pride there."
"How d'you know?" asked his comrade.
"Know! Why I was there at the last election, and they wasn't worryin' enough over who'd be mayor to pay more'n 50 cents apiece for votes."

Didn't Believe in Them.
"Willie," said his father, as he proceeded with the laying on of hands, "I am sorry to have to do this—it hurts me more than it does you."
"Well," returned the precocious youngster resignedly, "I never did believe in these here sympathetic strikes, anyhow. They always do more harm than good."

How She Got Him.
He had been holding her hand most of the evening. As he showed a disposition to release it without asking the momentous question she suggested quite casually: "Of course you understand that goods taken on approval are considered disposed of after they have been held a certain length of time."
Naturally, he appreciated that the hand was his without the asking.—Chicago Post.

THE NATIONAL CRITERION
The National Criterion published in Chicago, is a new magazine of standard size and attractive appearance, devoted exclusively to the best interests of the republican party. It is ably edited and its pages are alive and bristling with sound republican sentiment. Spicy stories contribute to the popularity of the magazine and make it a welcome guest in the home. The promoters aim to put the publication in the hands of a large constituency, and the price has been fixed at one dollar per year. Agents are wanted in every locality, and liberal commissions are paid. The National Co. at 172 Washington street, are the publishers.

Entertained Her Bible Class.
Mrs. J. T. Fitchett very pleasantly entertained the young ladies of her class in the Baptist Sunday school at a six o'clock dinner, given at her home, 219 Milton avenue, last evening. The guests were eight in number and they enjoyed heartily the elegant dinner which was prettily served in three courses. The table was decorated with nasturtiums and sweet pea blossoms. After dinner the evening was enjoyably spent in playing various novel games such as writing questions which could be answered with the title of some popular songs and then guessing the answers to the list which someone else had prepared. The games proved very amusing and the entire evening was one of pure enjoyment.
